COOLIDGE TO URGE ECONOMY WHEN HE PRESENTS MESSAGE

Recommendations Will Be Made To Avoid Tax Question

Washington, Nov. 15.—The approaching short session of congress can do little but enact appropriation bills for the coming fiscal year, congressional leaders say.

President Coolidge will make certain recommendations concerning other legislation, but these will be confined to matters pending about which there is no great divergence of opinion among the struggling factions of the dying congress. Proposals for new legislation he is expected to conserve until the new congress elected Nov. 4 assembles, either in special session next summer or in December, 1925.

Economy is expected to be the keynote of the president's message to congress in December. He probably will refrain from touching on the tax question, excepting to point out its intimate relationship with economy. This virtually was decided on at a conference he had with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who likewise announced he would make no recommendations in his annual report.

Other matters will be touched upon, however, including the world court, Muscle Shoals, the agricultural situation, foreign debt question, the tariff and army and navy.

Regarding the world court, the president is expected to recommend that America translate her ideals into practical results by providing for immediate adherence to The Hague court. As to Muscle Shoals, he will advise congress to make up its mind without delay, either to appoint a congressional commission to study the problem of its disposition or make up its mind what it is going to do with it.

The president will, it is said, warn against "tinkering" with the tariff, holding it one of the sources of prosperity. He will recommend keen consideration of the airplane question, and to urge quick action on the bill providing for needed repairs to battleships and certain new construction. In this connection Mr. Coolidge may make clear his position on the gun elevation question.

DAVIS SPENT $2,000 IN LOSING EFFORT

Columbus, Nov. 15.—Harry L. Davis, late Republican candidate for governor, spent $2,000 in his unsuccessful campaign, according to his personal expense statement, filed with the secretary of state. Traveling and hotel bills cost him $1,000 and the other $1,000 was a contribution to his state campaign committee, according to Davis' report.

Stevensville Automobile club reported spending $556 in support of Davis' candidacy.

Thomas H. Morrow committee, Cincinnati, reported contributions of $1,440 and expenditures of the same amount, in behalf of Morrow's candidacy for attorney general.

W. T. Kinder of Cleveland, treasurer of the W. H. Kinder committee, reported expenditures totaling $1,847 in behalf of Kinder's candidacy for supreme court judge.

EMMA GOLDMAN SORRY COOLIDGE WAS ELECTED

London, Nov. 15.—Emma Goldman's hope for a return to the country where she preached revolution and accomplished only her own deportation, dimmed with the tremendous victory of President Coolidge, she told International News Service today in the first authorized interview she has granted since her return to England.

The anarchist exile charged that the proceedings under which she was deported from the United States were fraudulent and would have been revoked if she had appealed to the supreme court, an ambition she thought she might have realized had the election brought in a more liberal government.

"Through marriage I became an American citizen. But in 1919 I was very anxious to get to Russia, so I did not appeal then and now I can't because I can't enter the country."

Miss Goldman indicated that a different outcome of the election would have enabled her to return to the United States long enough to carry through the appeal, as the result of which she is confident, she would have been permitted to remain.

"I love the American people. I love America," she continued, with the intensity which marks her radical preachings and her conversation as well. "I love the America of Emerson and Walt Whitman and Lincoln. I don't love the America of Coolidge."

Harding at least had some warmth of feeling.

"Coolidge has none. "I don't love the American government, but the government is not America. I won't attempt to secure permission to return now, although I'd like to go back because my friends are all there."

Miss Goldman asserted that the re-election of Coolidge was simply another evidence of the "re-action which is sweeping the world."

"Naturally America didn't escape the disease," she continued. "I am not predicting how long re-action will last. I'm no prophet, although I and others who opposed the world war have been vindicated by events."

GERMANY GALLANTLY SURRENDERS HER SUPREMACY IN DIRIGIBLES TO AMERICA

Bremen, Nov. 15.—Germany gallantly surrendered to America today the heritage of supremacy in dirigible construction received from Count Zeppelin.

With a brave smile, the fatherland waved farewell to Dr. Karl Arnstein, chief engineer of the Zeppelin Company—the man who constructed the ZR-3 and twelve picked experts of his engineering staff. They sailed aboard the liner George Washington for America, there to carry on the conquest of the air lanes, which by the terms of the Versailles treaty can no longer be furthered in Germany.

"America by virtue of her topography, as well as the spirit of her people is the logical country for the future development of airships along lines of which we had hardly dreamed," said Dr. Arnstein in an exclusive interview with International News Service just before sailing.

"Whatever we Germans, who have grown up with Count Zeppelin's work, have gained in technique and experience, we gladly and wholeheartedly place at the disposal of our bigger, richer, happier 'brother' across the Atlantic, with whom we shall work hand in hand," he added.

Dr. Arnstein is regarded as the construction wizard of the German Zeppelin industry. He is going to Akron, Ohio, with his staff he will join Captain Lehman who flew over the ZR-3 the giant dirigible rechristened "Los Angeles."

Arnstein who has been in the United States before and is a great admirer of America and American ways will be in charge of design and construction at the Goodyear Zeppelin plant in Akron.

"Everyone who has been in America, if only for a short time, knows that nature endowed your country with all the conditions pre-requisite to a tremendously fruitful development of airship construction and traffic," Dr. Arnstein continued.

America has extraordinary cruising distances such as are required by airships. It is the only country which can replace the inflammable helium for inflation of lighter than air craft. But the most important possession is a population of marvelous vital power, enterprise, enthusiasm and dash, qualities which are the foremost characteristics of a country so rich in marvels.

"This was once more brilliantly manifested at the time of the arrival of the ZR-3. The spirit with which you people greeted its arrival and the manner with which you treated Dr. Eckner and his crew made every German's heart beat with pride—particularly we who have been privileged in helping to construct and develop the trans-Atlantic airship. We feel elated over that reception."

"I am sincerely convinced that in the noble task of linking our nations closer and closer we both will benefit immeasurably from the combination of American enterprise and enthusiasm and initiative with German thoroughness and experience."

"I believe therefore, that the newly founded Goodyear Zeppelin Corporation will prove a history making step in the road of progress and for the benefit of civilization."

Dr. Arnstein is famous as "the father" of basic stability calculations, which perfected dirigible girders to their present degree of firmness and safety and as a genius in the construction of airship skeletons.

He also has achieved fame as constructor of some of the notable monuments, buildings, bridges and viaducts in central Europe.

Among the engineers accompanying him today were:

W. K. Kemper, R. Liebert, P. Helma, B. Schnitzler, F. Bruner, L. Rieger, H. Krehke, E. Herligardt, F. Shottell, all veteran Zeppelin men.

Heidelberg Holds Ohio Northern. Tiffin, O., Nov. 15.—Heidelberg and Ohio Northern played a 14 to 14 tie here. A brilliant 33-yard run by Mann for Heidelberg's second touchdown was a feature. Heidelberg had trouble in stopping Kerchner, former Tiffin boy, playing left half for Northern. Oldfather scored Heidelberg's first touchdown with a pass in the second quarter. Mann's followed a few minutes later.

HUGE BOND COUNTERFEITING SCHEME IS UNEARTHED IN OHIO

Cleveland, Nov. 15.—What is declared to have been a nationwide plot to manufacture and sell bogus $5.00 war savings certificates, was exposed here today with the arrest of J. V. Zottarelli, Cleveland attorney, in a berth on a Pullman, just as he arrived from Washington.

The arrest was made by William Harper of the United States secret service, who declared that one of the biggest plots in the history of counterfeiting had been unearthed.

War savings stamps dated 1919, to the amount of more than $5,400,000 had been printed in Chicago and distributed throughout the country, Harper said.

The warrant charges that Zottarelli on October 10 disposed of $40 of the bogus stamps for $4,200. Immediately after his arrest his offices in the cashed."

DISMISS SUIT TO SAVE SHIP FROM SINKING

District of Columbia Supreme Court Rules No Jurisdiction

Effort to Prevent Destruction of Battleship Results In Failure

Washington, Nov. 15.—The taxpayer's suit brought by William Shearer, naval expert of New York, to restrain Secretary of the Navy Wilbur from sinking the United States battleship Washington under the terms of the arms treaty was dismissed in the District of Columbia supreme court here. Shearer had no legal right as a taxpayer to bring the suit and the court had no jurisdiction to prevent a cabinet official from using his discretion under the law, Justice Hitz ruled. The decision will enable the navy department to continue with its plan to sink the Washington off the Virginia Capes next week by bombs and gun fire.

It seems certain that the controversy will be transferred to congress next month and that a complete investigation of the actual condition of the navy and its strength in comparison with those of Great Britain and Japan will be held. Senator King (Dem., Utah) heads a strong navy faction in the upper house and has introduced a resolution providing such an inquiry, while Representative Fred Britton (Rep., Ill.) is sponsor of a similar inquiry in the house.

Secretary Wilbur in his answer to the suit held that the naval limitations treaty specifically provides for scrapping of the capital ship, and that congress empowered the president to authorize the method by which its destruction is to be accomplished. Wilbur did not touch in his answer on Shearer's charges that the British government had not fulfilled its part of the treaty, as regards scrapping of ships, nor on Shearer's statement that destruction of the vessel was a sacrifice of taxpayers' money.

Shearer also stated that all the nations participating had not ratified all conference treaties, and that the Washington could not be scrapped until this had been done. Wilbur merely stated that the treaty provides specifically for the scrapping of the Washington.

The secretary denied that the Washington cost $30,000,000, as Shearer stated in his suit, giving the figure as $16,600,000, which was reduced to $15,240,000, he said, by sale of surplus material and other income. He also denied that the vessel was 85 per cent completed, as Shearer alleged, but said it was only 75.9 per cent finished, when work was stopped in August, 1922.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN JERSEY CITY FINALLY CHECKED BY FIREMEN

Flames Still Raging But Blaze Under Control—Two Thousand Made Homeless While Damage Will Reach $6,000,000, Is Said

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 15.—Explosions continued and flames raged today in the wreckage of factories and tenements laid waste by fire—this time through the night, firemen, their city's greatest—yesterday.

Flames ran and gashed in the glare of the blaze, their bodies almost numb with exhaustion, continued their efforts to extinguish the conflagration, suddenly loosed by an explosion in the Battelle and Renwick Salt Petre works.

They knew however, that the fight had been won.

Progress of the fire had been checked. It was stated by fire officials, however, that it might continue to blaze and smolder for days.

Latest estimates were that 2,000 persons had been made homeless. Property damage will reach $6,000,000, it was reported.

Three investigations, begun by police and fire departments and the county prosecutor, were under way to determine if any one, through criminal negligence had been culpable.

A survey showed that three entire city blocks had been laid waste, buildings on three others damaged and fifty firemen, policemen and rescue workers overcome by smoke or injured. Nine of them still were in hospitals.

The salt petre works, the Richards Chemical Company plant, the nine story building of the American Sugar Refining Company, storage warehouses of Colgate and Company, and of the Refining Company and scores of frame tenements were destroyed.

Jersey City, N. J., Nov. 15.—Fought for six hours by hundreds of firemen and streams from fireboats, fire ravaged several blocks along the Jersey City water front. The property loss is estimated at $1,000,000.

The flames devoured the salt petre plant of Battelle & Renwick, the large warehouse of the American Sugar Refining company and a dozen tenement dwellings and spread steadily, whipped by a high wind.

A terrific explosion, followed by five others in rapid succession, blew the ruins of the factory high in the air. Three adjoining dwellings tumbled to the ground. Firemen were showered with falling debris.

Bricks, machinery and timbers flew through the air, while clouds of gasous acid spread through the devastated area. Several firemen were injured and even some spectators were behind the fire lines sustained minor hurts.

Scenes of heroism played their part as the Jersey City firemen, nearly exhausted after hours of endeavor, still kept their slowly yielding lines drawn as tightly as possible around the burning area. Step by step they were forced back by the terrific heat and advancing walls of flame as the fire approached the huge warehouse of Colgate & Company, where 6,000 tons of soap were stored.

Cheers went up from the crowd behind the ropes as Captain George Bush went up a fire escape, smashed a tenement house window and brought down a small boy.

The fight from the river was intensified, Jersey City and Lehigh Valley railroad tugs joining the fireboats. Dynamite also was used to stay the flames. Thousands of New Yorkers across the river watched the progress of the fire from office buildings.

Meanwhile children were being removed from schools and institutions in the vicinity.

Fire hundred families were made temporarily homeless by the blaze and cots were set up for refugees in the Fourth regiment armory.

Police lines were thrown about a district of six square blocks surrounding the fire. For the first hour of the fire something of a panic reigned as families in the stricken area, ordered to abandon their homes, ran about in wild confusion, seeking to save some of their belongings.

A dozen firemen and 20 men, women and children in neighboring houses, cut by flying glass or overcome by the chemical fumes, were rushed to hospitals or to emergency first aid stations set up in neighboring drug stores. Red Cross nurses and volunteer physicians hastily appeared on the scene with first aid kits.

De Rigne's body was found in the street a block from where the party was held.

Mrs. Patterson, proprietor of a rooming house, accused De Rigne of shooting her in both the left and right elbows, when she rejected his unwelcome attentions.

Then she told the police, De Rigne left the apartment. No knife was found near De Rigne's body.

Pacific Flight Planned. Dayton, O., Nov. 15.—A flight from San Francisco to Honolulu will be attempted within a few months by the United States navy. Lieutenant John C. Report Presented By Military Board In Niles Rioting

Grand Jury To Probe Disorders In Klan and Anti-War

Columbus, Nov. 15.—Governor Donahy announced that the Trumbull county grand jury will investigate the rioting at Niles between Klan and anti-Klan factions that occurred Nov. 1.

This announcement was made after a conference the governor had with Attorney General Crabbe, Adjutant General Henderson and the military board that investigated the rioting. Whether H. A. Burgess, Trumbull county prosecutor, or the attorney general will conduct the investigation will be decided at a further conference Monday, to which Burgess was summoned by the governor.

The report of the military board recommended that Burgess call a special grand jury to investigate the riots, and that the governor instruct the attorney general to assign special counsel to assist Burgess.

The second recommendation, according to Attorney General Crabbe's advice to the governor, can not be complied with. "Under the law, the attorney general can not go before a grand jury conducted by the prosecutor," said Crabbe. "It would invalidate the entire proceedings."

Under this interpretation, it will be necessary either for the investigation to be conducted entirely by Burgess, with outside assistance from the state's legal department, or for the attorney general to direct the entire probe.

The governor did not make public the evidence gathered by the military investigating board, for the reason that a great part of this in all probability will be submitted to the grand jury.

VICTIM OF MOTOR ACCIDENT DIES AT HOSPITAL FRIDAY

Injuries received in an automobile accident in Springfield, October 27, caused the death of B. E. Williams, 49, Cedarville, at the McAllehan Hospital, this city, Friday night at 6:15 o'clock.

Mr. Williams and Miss Minnie Gorman, 30, of Bushell, near North Hampton, were seriously injured, Monday night, October 27, when the Ford coupe in which they were riding crashed head on into a street car at Clifton and Indiana Avenues, Springfield. Double Murder Follows Party

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 15.—A party in an apartment here early today ended in the shooting of Mrs. Clara Patterson, 30, and the mysterious murder of Lou De Rigne, a guest, who was stabbed to death.

De Rigne's body was found in the street a block from where the party was held.

Mrs. Patterson, proprietor of a rooming house, accused De Rigne of shooting her in both the left and right elbows, when she rejected his unwelcome attentions.

Then she told the police, De Rigne left the apartment. No knife was found near De Rigne's body.

PAVING PROGRAM COMPLETED BY CITY

The city has completed its entire road improvement program for 1924, with the exception of some slight repair work being completed on the Lower Bellbrook pike, under the supervision of the county, City Manager S. O. Hale announced Friday.

No paving work was done within the city limits during the past year, said Manager Hale, as a majority of the streets are in good condition.

Hard surface roads were made of the Columbus Pike, extending from the corporation line into the city, a distance of over 2,500 feet, and the same work was done from the corporation limits of the city, on Cincinnati Avenue and the Lower Bellbrook Pike, toward the city, to connect with the paving for distances of several thousand feet.

CUSTOMER

The duties of a broker in regard to his acts for his customers are laid down definitely by the exchange.

As a broker is an agent, the law says that he must "act for his principal (customers) with skill and diligence and must act in good faith." The test as to whether or not he has done these things depends, legally on how other "skillful and prudent brokers would act in the same situation."

Very drastic penalties are meted out by the Exchange to brokers who do not look after their customers' demands. It is always the demands. It is always the broker's duty to buy for his customers at the lowest possible price available at the time and to sell at the highest price available at the time. If a broker is able to sell for higher than the customer directed him to do, he is not allowed to keep any of the difference between the listed selling price and the actual selling price. However on a stop loss order "good until cancelled" the broker must sell at the price his customer fixes for the selling price. Should that price be impossible, the broker must sell at the next lower possible price—or pocket any loss which may occur through his negligence.

Ethylized Gasoline

For one year and nine months ethylized gasoline has been on sale. It is now being distributed through about 20,000 filling stations covering one-third of the territory of the United States.

About 200,000,000 gallons have been used by more than 1,000,000 motorists with complete safety and satisfaction.

Recently a distressing accident occurred at an experimental plant, where a new process for the manufacture of tetraethyl lead, one of the constituents used in ethylized gasoline, was under development.

Tetraethyl lead is a poison, and are many raw materials which enter into the manufacture of harmless compounds. Ethylized gasoline consists of 1300 parts of ordinary gasoline containing less than one part of tetraethyl lead.

This statement is issued to make plain the all-important difference between tetraethyl lead, the raw material, and ethylized gasoline, the commercialized product.

Ethylized gasoline is more than an improved fuel, giving smoothness to the motor and eliminating knocks; it is a scientific discovery which, in its ultimate development, will contribute largely to the conservation of the world's supply of gasoline.

Exhaustive tests have been conducted which have established the safety of ethylized gasoline when used as a motor fuel. These tests have been confirmed by the United States Bureau of Mines, which is making additional studies to determine whether any possible injury can result from continued contact when used for other than motor purposes. Scientific data based on these studies will be submitted to any health commissioner or other public health official on request.

WATER SHRUBBERY BEFORE FREEZING

George Lampert, of The Lampert Floral Company is broadcasting information that is valuable to all who are interested in beautification.

He declares all shrubs and evergreens should be given an abundance of water before freezing weather occurs as the long drought has drained the plants of all the reserve sap and should the plants freeze without any more moisture than they now have in the stalks they will not live through the winter.

The rain of Thursday will help considerably but persons anxious to keep their shrubbery through the winter should make it a point to give them all the moisture possible before a freeze occurs. A little attention in this respect will save thousands of dollars worth of shrubbery about the city, it is said.

Ask your neighbor
about his Public Sale
Advertising in The Gazette and Republican.

SERVICE

In line with modern newspaper publishing we offer the following as a means of helping our advertisers get the most out of the money they spend for our advertising space.

Let The Gazette and Republican Show You How to Hold a Successful PUBLIC SALE

The question often arises as to when a sale should be held. If properly conducted, a sale will be successful any time of the year from Sept. 1 to May 1—although the holiday season should be avoided. The season for corn harvest, which is a busy time for farmers, may be avoided.

October, November, December, January, February and March might be called the best months. February and March are exceptionally good months to sell horses for the spring work. People who have moved from other localities are also ready to buy implements and supplies needed for the coming season. Stock sells well most any time in the fall.

Any day of the week is good for a sale except Saturday—however, Saturday is an exceptionally good day for a sale in the city. No matter what time of the year an auction is held if properly advertised generally always brings results.

How To Prepare

Prepare for your sale by getting everything in the best possible shape, and do not wait till the morning of the sale to do it. Have all loose property gathered together. Have all implements cleaned and arranged in plain view. Have the horses well groomed, and a good man to show them. Be sure to have halters on hand for every horse sold. Have records for all bred animals. Have harness cleaned and on the horses when offered for sale. It looks much better than when lying in a heap.

Have cows and young calves clean and in a good condition. Also have them tagged and numbered which will prevent mistakes and disputes.

Sheep should be graded and divided into flocks of 10 to 25, always in clean pens.

Have all live stock in clean surroundings. Provide crates for fowls, many a bid is lost because parties have no way of taking care of them.

Carry on your sale exactly as advertised. Do not omit having a lunch unless the sale is a short one. Nothing conduces so much to comfort and humor and a man bids most readily when in a good humor.

The Cost of Advertising

If you advertise your sale thoroughly you will know you have done your best and you will always be satisfied. If you skimp on the advertising and save a few dollars, and your sale is not satisfactory you will always blame yourself for not spending a little more money and doing it right. $5.00 or $10 saved is nothing compared with the risk in selling a thousand dollars worth of property. The question is not, "Can I afford it?" but rather "Dare I take any chances?"

In advertising the sale remember it is necessary to cover the whole county to get the best results. The local village paper may advertise your sale well enough for the immediate vicinity; but that is not enough. Your sale is not a neighborhood affair. You need the very widest publicity. You want the bidders that come 10, 15 and 20 miles away, the strangers with the cash in their pockets.

To get these men you must place your advertising in a newspaper that covers the whole county. There are only two such papers in Greene County, The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican. Another reason you cannot afford to stay out of The Evening Gazette and The Morning Republican is because they have come to be recognized as the "AUCTION PAPERS" and farmers look to them for auction news.

Making Up Your List

This should be done early and the list should be as full as possible. Don't be afraid of getting it too full for the article you omit may be the very one that would bring some customer to bid. The reader always goes over the list carefully. If a machine is new, or nearly new, or in good condition, or if an animal or article is extra good, specify the fact, give the weight of the horses, and their age, unless they are very old. Have your list made out when you go to arrange for your advertising. DON'T TRUST TO MEMORY.

Your Auctioneer

There are two points of supreme importance in an auction sale—the auctioneer and the advertising. Both must be the best, and neither one alone can make the sale a success. As to auctioneers the only advice is—get THE BEST MAN YOU CAN. It is better to pay five dollars more to your auctioneer than to lose $100 on your sale.

The selection of a clerk is also important. His position is a responsible one and he ought to be a thorough and accurate business man with a large acquaintance. He must also be quick witted so as to catch the bids instantly and not get confused. The name of a well known man, as your clerk, will help your sale. A good clerk will save you more money than you pay him.

Credit and Discount

The weight of opinion is against offering a discount for cash. It is not necessary. A man who can pay ready money generally will do so, and strangers coming from a distance almost always have the ready cash, with them. Very often it happens that every dollar paid in at a sale is cash and in such cases a discount of 2% would be money thrown away.

More For Your Money

There is no better way of getting a money-spending crowd than through advertising your sale in The Morning Republican and The Evening Gazette, because we go into practically every home in the county and relieve you of the big job of going all over the county to post bills. The cost of advertising in these papers and the results obtained are incomparable. Ask yourself this question, "how often do you stop to read an old-fashioned sale bill" and you will have the problem solved.

LOWELL FESS SECRETLY MARRIED AUGUST 14

Announcement of the marriage of Mr. Lowell Fess, second son of United States Senator and Mrs. S. D. Fess, Yellow Springs, to Mrs. Marguerite Curtis Loveless, Washington, D. C. made in dispatches from Ashland, Ky., Saturday morning, was confirmed by members of the Fess family Saturday.

The marriage took place quietly in Greenup, Ky., August 14, and was kept a secret by the elopers, even to members of the Fess family. Under the laws of Kentucky, secret licenses are made public after three months, which resulted in the disclosure in dispatches from Ashland late Friday night.

When asked regarding the marriage Friday night Senator Fess strenuously denied it, until later in the evening, his new daughter-in-law admitted that the reports were true.

Mr. Fess and his bride drove to Greenup August 14, and after their marriage by the Rev. M. A. Peters in that city, they resumed an automobile trip.

The bride has been private secretary to Senator Fess for three years, serving with him in Washington and in Yellow Springs, where she is well known, under the name of Miss Marguerite Curtis. She later admitted a previous marriage, which accounted for dispatches carrying her name as Mrs. Loveless.

Senator and Mrs. Fess and their newly discovered daughter-in-law went to Columbus early Saturday to attend the Ohio State-Michigan football game, and could not be reached.

Mr. and Mrs. Fess will reside in Columbus where Mr. Fess, who was formerly secretary to his father, is now secretary of the Ohio Retail Drygoods Association. His address has been 175 South High Street that city.

Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Kelly, of Whitehall, Yellow Springs, plan to sail from New York City, November 29, on an extended foreign trip. They will visit Egypt, and other interesting countries. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly will leave Springfield, November 26.

Miss Goldie Huston of South Detroit Street, returned to her home Friday following a week's visit with Miss Alice Neff of Dayton.

Mrs. R. K. Haines (Mary Walton) and two children Robert and Joseph of the New Hope Neighborhood, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Van Winkle, and family of Mount Auburn, Cincinnati.

The regular meeting of Triumphant Temple, Pythian Sisters, will be held Tuesday evening, November 18, at 7:30 o'clock. All members of the team are requested to be present for practice.

Miss Florence Mitchell, 234 North King Street, is ill at her home with tonsillitis.

The Central High School Parent Teachers' Association will meet in the Jean B. Elwell auditorium Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Sunshine Society will meet Tuesday afternoon, November 18, at the home of Mrs. Charles Gowdy, West Church Street. The election of officers will be held.

Small tables were placed about the dance floor, where refreshments were served the guests throughout the evening. Candles centered each table. A punchbowl marked a popular spot during the evening, cozily screened by latticework.

About one hundred and fifty guests, including members of the Roosevelt High School football team, attended the affair, which was open to the high school. Teachers of the school and patrons acted as chaperones.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW ABOUT THE "NOBEL PRIZE"

Of all industrial organizations in Great Britain, the most peculiar is Nobel Industries, Ltd., usually known as the "dynamite trust." This company is, perhaps, the most international organization in the world, with the possible exception of the Standard Oil Company. It consists of thirty-four companies and several hundred factories scattered over the globe. It has more ramifications and foreign interests than any other British company.

It has factories in England, Scotland, South Africa, India, China, Chili, Australia, Rumania, Czechoslovakia and Hungary.

It has large holdings in the General Motors Corporation, Dunlop Rubber, British Celanese, African Explosives, Ltd., and Canadian Explosives, Ltd. The latter was started mainly with American capital.

It has friendly arrangements with manufacturers in France, Belgium, Spain and the United States. Virtually every important country is on its map, except Russia, which it is letting severely alone.

Its assets are $115,000,000 and it is paying 8 per cent on its common stock. This company makes dynamite, gelignite, rockite, tonite and all manner of other blasting compounds. It sold 50,000 tons of dynamite last year for blasting purposes alone.

It is a veritable munitions department. At the Wembley Exhibition, it showed enough explosives to blow the whole exhibition sky high. It is a company of 10,000 dangers. Its employees walk daily with death at their heels. Yet there are very few accidents.

The Nobel method of making high explosives is not to build little factories in the sides of hills. The Nobel factories are built in remote regions, and they are made into very small units, with every unit surrounded by a high embankment. Each little unit stands in a small valley of its own; and consequently, if it is blown to pieces, the other units are not endangered.

Few realize the part that explosives play in the everyday work of the world. Yet the civilized world could not do its work without dynamite. It was dynamite that dug the Panama canal; and it is dynamite that bores tunnels, clears forests, makes roads, blasts rock and quarries ore.

Last year 175,000 tons of dynamite were used in the United States alone, nearly all for constructive purposes. And 20,000 tons were used by the gold miners of South Africa.

Dynamite is force—portable, obedient force; and it is as useful for the arts of peace as it is for the campaigns of war.

Besides dynamite, the Nobel Company makes a multiplicity of products. It makes carburetors, storage batteries, bicycles, synthetic leather, candles and boot-laces. It owns and operates a mint and makes metal coinage for many Governments.

It makes sulphuric acid, white lead, saltpetre, collodion and other chemicals. It makes the rockets that are used by ships when in danger, and it makes safety fuses that burn at the rate of a foot in 30 seconds.

The founder of the company was Alfred Bernard Nobel—the inventor who made his name famous by means of the Nobel prizes. Nobel was born in Stockholm in 1833. At sixteen he went to the United States to study engineering under John Ericson. He spent five years in America and then returned to Sweden.

He became profoundly interested in the invention of explosives. At that time, there was no explosive that could be handled with safety. Gun cotton and nitroglycerine had been invented, but they were dangerous. Nobel built a factory in Stockholm to make explosives, but in a few months it blew up, killing his brother and maiming his father for life.

Nobel was driven out of Stockholm by the city authorities. He continued his work on a barge, far out in the harbor. After many troubles, he made nitroglycerine safe and gave it the name of dynamite.

Then, in 1871, he went to England and started the little company that has now become the $115,000,000 dynamite trust.

When he died in 1895, he left his whole fortune of $10,000,000 for the famous Nobel prizes. Every year five prizes of $40,000 are awarded for the most notable work done in physics, chemistry, medicine, literature and peace.

Nobel was an invalid the greater part of his life. He was born with a weakness of the spine. Yet this one fragile man did more than anyone else to equip the human race with force.

Nobel owed much to his early training in the United States. He went back to New York and Philadelphia in 1867 and tried to sell his patent rights, but he could not find a buyer. He returned to Britain and obtained his first capital in Glasgow. His first large factory was built in Ayrshire, Scotland. It now covers 837 acres.

The present head of the big Nobel merger is Sir Harry McGowan, a Scot, who is well known in the United States.—By Herbert N. Casson, Written for the Public Ledger from London.

But I do think that there is some way to make that income stretch for three people, even with a higher rent. Thrift can do it. It is up to the housekeeper to work it out.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Back Weak and Painful. Mrs. Miller Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rotan, Texas.—"I am writing to let you know how I have been benefited by taking your medicine. After my second baby was born my back was weak and hurt me continually, so I thought I'd try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had read so much about where it had helped so many women. I had been bothered with my back for over a year, and it would hurt me until I could not do my work, which is keeping house for three and cooking and washing dishes. I tell all my friends if they have any kind of female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. You may use this testimonial if it will help any one."

Mrs. C. R. MILLER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 76, Rotan, Texas.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

It is a constant surprise to me that more people in this world are not wealthy. Why? Because so very little effort at thrift always brings such big results. Those of us who have had the happy experience of depositing a lone dollar in a savings bank, to start an account, can testify to how short a time that dollar remained lonely! It drew other dollars to it as if by magic, till we soon were amazed at the size of our balance. We had developed that enthusiasm for saving which took us constantly, steadily, to the bank with other small deposits—with the result that our savings became a substantial sum.

And this money-saving principle works in any branch of thrift. Big results seem to come from such a very little effort on our part. The housewife who learns to use her scraps of left-over food cleverly finds her marketing bills almost miraculously reduced. The woman who learns to make her own clothes, and to make over old garments, discovers that she needs to spend very little money per year in dress. The housekeeper who makes up her mind to walk to market or movie house, rather than take a street car or subway, is amazed to see how much she has "left over" in her pocket book at the end of her fiscal week. We are so richly rewarded by these efforts toward saving!

MUSIC AND BEAUTY

I am reminded that this would be a rather hard world in which to travel were it not for beauty and music. A band is playing outside my window. Thousands are gathered about to hear, standing as though entranced. Just a little way beyond is the Salvation Army also playing instruments.

It is strange how music tugs at the strings of one's heart. Let the music stop and a deadness hovers about the silence no matter how eloquent an orator follows, he cannot hope to magnet as the strains of martial music.

I would like to see the war that could be started or carried on without its bands. Who would enlist?

I saw a football game the other day. My favorite team had been scored upon. There were only a few minutes left in which to play. The under team was fighting with every inch of its might. Just then its college band struck up the college air! And—bang! Over went a touchdown, and defeat gave way to victory.

Without the warmth of music and the thrill of beauty that is so evident all about us, this world would not only become a gray, drab place but life would be harboring dead folks in dreams.

When I am tired and discouraged I want to hear a good brass band or some heavenly violin or flute or harp.

No matter how bad a man may feel inclined to be, if he has music and beauty in his heart he cannot be very bad.

Shakespeare once said that the man who had no music in his soul was fit to be hung, and I think that he was exactly right.

I would rather live in the woods where I might be cheered in the morning with the songs of birds and stilled to sleep at night time by the sweet and almost silent chirps of crickets than have all the gold and precious stones in existence.

I like to live with beauty about me, on my walls, in my book-cases, in my garden. I much prefer such possessions to a crate of interest bearing bonds in my safe.

The God I love is the One who made the stars, the grass, the flowers, put the whistle to the wine and whispered to human beings, telling them how to organize bands and orchestras.

600 Sheep to be Sold At Public Auction

—ON—

Wednesday, November 19

at The Farm Bureau Stock Yards, Washington C. H., Ohio. Sale starting at 1 o'clock p. m., central standard time. Consisting of 300 extra good young Delaine and Rambulet ewes and 200 half blood and open wool ewes (these 200 are bred ewes) 125 extra good Delaine feeding wethers and a number of good Shrop bucks.

I don't think there was ever a safer time to buy ewes than the present. Official reports show that Australian flocks have fallen 15,000,000 since 1913. In fact all the great sheep producing countries of the world show a proportionate falling off. The United States consumed 20 per cent more wool in 1924 than we produced.

This will be an excellent opportunity to buy a few ewes as they will be sold in pen lots (15 to 25 to the pen), thus giving all buyers a chance.

BUD'S LAMENTATION

I wish I'd lived in seventy-six
When freedom needed men of might
And there were few to dare and do,
And bravely battle for the right;
I could have crossed the Delaware
With Washington and all his men,
Or stood with George at Valley Forge,
If only I'd been living then!

I might have been a famous man
If I had lived in sixty-three,
I could have led a charge ahead
And called my men to follow me.
I might have cheered Abe Lincoln up
When he was troubled and forlorn
And helped a lot, but I could not,
Because I wasn't even born!

I read my history day by day
And think about those warriors bold
Who fought and bled where blood ran red
Throughout those glorious days of old.

I might have been a hero, too,
A general's cap upon my brow,
But I can't see a chance for me,
There is no work for heroes now!

There's nothing left for me to do,
Old Glory safely flies in air,
There is no foe to overthrow,
No call for heroes anywhere;
I have to add, subtract, divide,
Learn capitals of every state,
And how to spell and scribble well,
And all because I came too late! homes.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

TO THE EDITOR:

A special appeal has just been received by cable from our Near East Relief director in Palestine, asking for funds to rescue 200 Armenian children who are still in Anatolia. These children are the last group of orphans who have remained in the interior of Turkey, having been cared for at an Armenian monastery near Talas. The monastery is being closed by order of the Turks and the children are left without resources, as the funds of the monastery came from local properties which are now confiscated.

America is asked for only one-half of the funds necessary to care for these children. A group of British friends of Armenia has already agreed to assume half of the expense and will take over half of the children when they reach Syria.

To bring these children out of Anatolia will cost about $3,000, half of which has already been furnished by the British committee. The cost of outfitting and housing our half of the 200 children on their arrival in Syria is estimated at $2,000, and their support for the first year will be $700 a month.

The total sum needed, therefore, is about $12,000. I hope that some of your readers will be interested in making contributions toward this special need.

Yours truly,
Charles V. Vickrey,
General Secretary
The Near East Relief.

XENIA UNDERTAKERS NAMED OFFICERS OF NEW ASSOCIATION

The meeting was held preliminary to carrying out a plan of the state association to divide the state into districts, each with its own organization. Greene, Clinton, Warren, Highland and Fayette Counties are included in this district and more than sixty representatives from these counties attended the meeting in Wilmington.

The session was preceded by a banquet. Albert Hamma, Blanchester, was elected president and Elbert Toole, Hillsboro, was named vice president of the new organization. Each county has a representative on the board of control. Besides Mr. Whitmer they are: George Anderson, Warren County; Harry Littleton, Clinton County; Albert McCoy, Fayette County; J. M. Murray, Highland County.

The next meeting will be held in Xenia December 15. Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Whitmer and Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Need attended the initial meeting.

THIEVES WHO STOLE PLATINUM MAY EASILY DISPOSE OF THE LOOT

The wide use of platinum for jewelry and its scarcity, which have greatly increased its value as well as the comparative ease met with in disposing of it, have made almost useless efforts to apprehend platinum thieves, according to Dr. Austin M. Patterson, professor in chemistry at Antioch College.

Dr. Patterson said that the same opinion was expressed in a letter which he has just received from the secretary of this American Chemical Society in discussing the recent theft of crucibles and other platinum apparatus worth about $800 from the laboratory at Antioch.

"There is no substitute for platinum in chemistry and all chemists deplore that its use in jewelry substituting gold and other less precious metals has made it so expensive and consequently eagerly sought by thieves. Co-operating with the thieves are many dishonest jewelers to whom the metal can be readily sold," said Dr. Patterson. "The rapid increase in value of platinum is shown by the fact that when I commenced the study of chemistry a small crucible such as now costs $125 could be bought for $30," he said.

The chief source of platinum is in Ural Mountains in Russia, and was post war conditions in that country have contributed to difficulties in obtaining the metal and added to its desirability and costliness.

Sheriff Morris Sharp and his office force and authorities at Antioch have been baffled in efforts to unravel the platinum theft at the college.

DE MARCO ENSEMBLE TO APPEAR TUESDAY ON LYCEUM COURSE

The DeMarco Harp Ensemble, a musical combination with violin, three harps, cello and piano, will appear at the Central High School Auditorium, Tuesday evening, November 18, as the second number of the School Lyceum course. The program will begin at 8 o'clock.

Mildred Lewis, the third harpist of the company, has enjoyed wide experience in both orchestral and recital work it is said.

Each of the artists in the ensemble has achieved prominence in solo work and unusual combinations of the harp, violin and cello combine to make the Tuesday night program one of unusual musical interest.

FESS BOOSTED AS NEW REPUBLICAN LEADER TO SUCCEED LODGE BY POLITICAL SCRIBE

Writing in the Chicago Daily News, William Hard, political analyst, treats with marked favor, the prospects of Senator S. D. Fess of Yellow Springs becoming successor to the late Henry Cabot Lodge as leader of the Republican party in the senate.

Mr. Hard says: "Who will be leader of the Republican party in the senate with Henry Cabot Lodge absent? That is the question which today is of chief interest in political Washington. Many names are suggested. Among them the following: Wadsworth of New York, Curtis of Kansas, Fess of Ohio. Numerous other names are mentioned with perhaps equal merit in many respects. Much is to be said, for instance, for Borah of Idaho. He is undoubtedly the senate's greatest debater in the whole present parliamentary world, at home or abroad. Chauncey Depew of New York, at the end of sixty years of observation of public men, once said that he was proud to have known the two men who had made the greatest sets of speeches in his lifetime. One was Senator Dooliver of Iowa on the subject of the tariff. The other was Borah on the League of Nations.

Against all the other suggested names there are also earnest arguments. Fess is a scholar. He is an educator having had much to do with schools, and, additionally, which does not always happen to people who have had much to do with schools, he is genuinely skilled in books. In that respect he would be an apt successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

He is experienced and he is stable and he is trusted. He is not an extremist one way or the other, either toward being a tory or toward being an insurgent. Yet he is a reliable conservative in most matters now before the public. He also is perfectly satisfactory to President Coolidge. Virtually nobody in Congress in either House is more satisfactory and congenial to the President.

Coolidge expects to keep out. The President presumably will make no effort of the slightest sort to interfere in the selection of a Republican leader in the Senate, but his opinion is bound to be sought and it without doubt will not be hostile to the claims of the friends of Fess of Ohio.

Fess is a scholar. He is an educator having had much to do with schools, and, additionally, which does not always happen to people who have had much to do with schools, he is genuinely skilled in books. In that respect he would be an apt successor to Henry Cabot Lodge.

He is against the League of Nations and in favor of the League World Court. In that way and in many other ways he has gone right along with the mind and thought of Calvin Coolidge.

It is not certain, but distinctly possible, that in the leadership of the Senate the scholar Lodge of Massachusetts may be succeeded by the scholar Fess of Ohio.

made too many speeches containing remarks objectionable to regular machine politicians among his colleagues, though he is admitted to have perhaps the highest subtleties of equipment in the Senate. Read is charged with being too new in the Senate also too young in years.

Comes Down To Original Three
The best opinion in Washington comes down in this matter to Wadsworth and Curtis and Fess.

Against Wadsworth it is claimed that nobody should be elected from east of the Alleghenies. Against Wadsworth it is also claimed that he has been too logical, too determined, too sincere. He is a tory, remorselessly and without compromise or apology. He has absolutely one of the best minds in public life. It is urged against him, however, that his geographical situation and his uncompromising record would prevent him from harmonizing the Republican faction in the Senate.

Against Curtis of Kansas it is claimed that he ought to be kept as "whip" of the Republican party in the Senate. He has done marvelously well at that job. If he is not promoted from being "whip" to being actual leader it will be because he has done so well at the subordinate job that his colleagues will not wish to spare him for the higher job. Such are the rewards of merit and of industry.

There, then, remains Fess of Ohio. He is new in the Senate. He was elected only two years ago. For many previous years, however, he had served in the House of Representatives. He is an old public servant. He is experienced and he is stable and he is trusted. He is not an extremist one way or the other, either toward being a tory or toward being an insurgent. Yet he is a reliable conservative in most matters now before the public. He also is perfectly satisfactory to President Coolidge. Virtually nobody in Congress in either House is more satisfactory and congenial to the President.

BUILD LARGEST SLUICE IN EUROPE.

EUROPE'S LARGEST SLUICE.

The wealth of Holland is due to its commercial development of its waterways. At Ymuiden, a centre of the waterway traffic, is being built the largest sluice in Europe, to keep the water in the canals at the proper height. Above is shown a portion of the 2,200-foot long sluice.

General Primo de Rivera, Dictator of Spain, shown here with the young son of Raisuni the Jalal, during a recent inspection of the Spanish lines in Morocco and a visit to the Cheriff in Arcila, is using ruthless methods to put down the Spanish revolt, which is aimed at overthrowing the Directory, banishing King Alfonso and establishing a republic.

Here JOE COTTER, FREDERICK KELLOGG, E. L. DOHERTY & FRANK HOGAN, (below) JUDGE P. J. MCCORMICK, JOE BURKE, ATLEE POMERENE, MR. CAMARILLA & OWEN ROBERTS.

Lack of legal authority to grant leases on naval oil reserves in California, as well as alleged fraud, are the grounds on which the Government is seeking, in Los Angeles courts, before Judge Paul J. McCormick, to break the leases granted by ex-Secretary of the Interior Albert B. Fall to Edward L. Doherty, millionaire oil operator. The Doherty legal staff consists of Joe Cotter, Frederick Kellogg and Frank Hogan, while the Government is represented by United States District Attorney Joseph Burke, ex-Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio; Assistant District Attorney Camarilla and Owen J. Roberts.

MRS MARY B. CONNOR.

Barbara Frietchie offered to be shot at, but Mrs. Mary B. Connor, of Chicago, went her one better when she offered to do some shooting herself. She held at bay for several hours two wagon loads of policemen and a lot of deputies who sought to evict her from her home. Finally two policemen broke into her home from the rear and disarmed her. She was photographed while leaning out of a window, revolver in hand, threatening to shoot.

SOCIETY GIRL CHANNING BACCHENT.

MR & MRS RODNEY B. BURCH

The mystery of the identity of an aristocratic young woman at City Hospital, Welfare Island, New York City, was cleared when she admitted she was the former Millicent Gilpin, of a socially prominent Philadelphia family. A CLOUD OF DOLLAR BILLS

Dollar bills don't go floating through the air. We'd all take up aviation if they did.

But there's one place where a cloud of them does appear daily—and that's in the A-B-C Classified Section of The Gazette and Republican.

Look up and down these classified columns. Look through the merchandise group, for instance. There are chances to save one, two, three, five—perhaps even ten dollars.

Then turn to the "Automobile For Sale." More chances to save money! Surprisingly good cars are offered for quick sale at surprisingly low prices.

Next, take a quick glance at the business opportunities. Here are chances to MAKE money—which is surely just as good as saving money.

CAPITAL GRIDDERS
SWAMP CEDARVILLE
TEAM AT COLUMBUS

Capital University completely snowed under Cedarville College at Columbus Friday afternoon and after making the Cedarville eleven a present of one touchdown, staged a strong comeback, finally winning by a 45 to 6 margin.

Cedarville's only score came as the result of Adair's eighty yard return of a punt for a touchdown before the fighting Lutherans could count. Following this run, Capital got busy and shoved over three touchdowns before the half ended, end runs by Bernlohr and plunges by Prange and Bernlohr figuring greatly in the scoring.

Interpassing line bucks with passes to ends Braun and Reutinger. Capital continued its scoring in the third quarter, counting twice. The Katherman coached combination scored its final two touchdowns in the last period on a series of trick plays and an intercepted pass.

Both offensively and defensively, the entire Capital line, from end to end, left nothing to be desired. Adair at half and Taylor, former Central High School star at end, were the luminaries for Cedarville.

The lineup:

Capital Cedarville
Braun Taylor
Schellhase Brown
Herath Hunt
Sheatsley Townsley
Nieman Lever
Herc Meyer Rockhold
Reutinger Anderson
Chic Meyer (c) qb. Stoltz
Bernlohr rb. Arthur
Selfert lb. Addie
Prange Hamm, Kenyon, Umpire:
Salt, Ohio State. Head Linesman:
Winters, Ohio Wesleyan.

When the Imperials meet the strong Piqua Merchants football team Sunday afternoon at Washington Park the locals will be without the services of two of their regulars.

"Yank" Stephens, quarterback, will be out of the pastime owing to sickness while Frank Leahey, halfback and end, will also watch the game from the sidelines with a badly cut lip. These lads have been playing a great game and will be missed.

The Piqua bunch has a nifty grid team and to date they have not met defeat. Among their victims are the Tipp City team which they defeated by a 12 to 7 score and Sidney, which team they defeated by a 7 to 6 score, while they engaged Sidney on their own field and earned a scoreless tie. The Merchants beat Our Boys of Portland, Indiana by a 6 to 0 score and Scarlet tribe.

The Merchants have a fast backfield. Two of the men, it is said, are of the triple threat variety, Retterbush and Ginn. The former starred with Piqua High School several seasons ago while Ginn played with the old Piqua team which defeated the Maroons. Meyers, who plays left guard, was also a member of the old Piqua eleven. Howard, left tackle is another former high school star while Creager, former Piqua High star and later with Defiance College, runs the team at quarter. With this array of talent the Piquads are confident of adding the fast moving Irish tribe to their list. The game should be every bit as fast and sensational as last week's and this being the case a large crowd is looked for at Washington Park at 2:15 o'clock when the teams clash. Red Randall will referee while Bill Leahey will be headlinesman.

Jardine Named.

Washington, Nov. 15.-William J. Jardine, president of Kansas agriculture college, was appointed by President Coolidge as an additional member of the president's agricultural commission. This makes the total membership of the commission nine.

CENTRAL HIGH GRIDDERS DISPLAY BEST FORM OF SEASON BUT LOSE TO ROOSEVELT 19 TO 0

Central High School's football eleven made its scores through passes, its aerial game was not a marked success, as it only completed six out of fourteen passes, but Xenia's overhead game was no better, and out of ten attempts, the locals completed but two passes for gains of fifteen and ten yards.

Holton and Baker split about even on their punting duel, Holton averaging twenty-nine yards on his punts, while Baker's kicks averaged twenty-eight yards. Both Holton and Bollechino got good distance on their kick offs. Lineup and summary:

Roosevelt Xenia
Sparks LE Perrine
Routzong LT Peters
Stewart LG H. Jordan
Scott C Edwards
Bowman RG Jenkins
Grohman RT Scurry
Bollechino RE Marshall
Rieske QB Holton
Baker LH Towles
Schmoll RH Boxwell
Hall FB Zell (c)

The score by quarters:
Xenia 0 0 0 0-0
Roosevelt 12 0 0 7-19

Substitutions: Roosevelt-Crolley for Sparks, Lyle for Stewart, Mackmull for Scott, Haines for Bowman, Noble for Grohman, Peatrup for Noble, Bartholomew for Schmoll, Smith for Hall; Xenia: Chitty for Boxwell, Buell for Marshall, Boxwell for Chitty, Marshall for Buell, Chitty for Boxwell.

Roosevelt scored its initial touchdown in the first period after three minutes of play, when a long pass, Baker to Routzong, was good for a forty-six yard gain putting the ball on Xenia's four yard line. Quarterback Rieske scored a few seconds later on a sneak, Baker's try for extra point by a drop kick was wide.

Roosevelt scored again after the kick off, when Xenia, failing to gain, was forced to punt, and Baker immediately hurled a twenty yard pass to Bollechino, who traveled the remaining twenty-five yards to the goal line, unopposed. Hall's drop kick was wide.

Xenia had one chance to score in the first quarter when a Roosevelt punt was returned to Roosevelt's thirty-five yard line, but Perrine lost six yards on a trick play, and Holton lost twenty-five more on a bad pass from center, forcing a punt on the next play.

Xenia had another good chance to score near the start of the second period when Marshall blocked a punt by Baker and recovered on Roosevelt's twenty-three yard line, but several passes were grounded and Holton's drop kick went straight up in the air.

Xenia again had another good scoring chance at this point when Holton returned a punt twenty yards to the twenty-one yard line. Holton was thrown for an eighty yard loss. Zell plowed through the line for nine yards but on the next two plays only gained seven yards and lost the ball.

Central had its best chance of the game to score near the end of the first half when the ball was pushed to Roosevelt's eleven yard line on a series of line plunges. With one minute to play and third down, a line play failed and Towles fumbled the period ended.

Roosevelt man recovering as Roosevelt scored its last points in the third quarter when Baker passed to Bollechino who ran sixty-four yards for a touchdown. Schmoll made his drop kick for extra point good.

That Roosevelt was unable to gain materially through the line was due in the main to the fine defensive work of Fred Scurry, the big colored tackle, who played a whirlwind game, getting more than half the tackles. Captain Allen Zell was at his best as usual and the Teddy Bears found this impossible to stop consistently, and Central's captain plunged the line and skirted the end for frequent gains. His tackling was also of high order.

Rieske and Hall were the outstanding backfield stars for Roosevelt when it came to line plunging. Rieske was adept at sneaks, Hall knifed the tackles, while Baker did nothing but pass and punt. Baker's passes were long and straight and his accuracy in throwing the pigskin into the waiting hands of his mates for good gains was uncanny.

In spite of the fact that Roosevelt

Boxwell for Holton, Wakeley for Jordan, Buell for Perrine, Smith for Peters, Referee, Bacon, Wabash, Umpire, Storck, Chicago Training School; Head Linesman, Geyer, Xenia, Timmers, Rowe, Dayton and Tiford, Xenia. Time of quarters, twelve minutes.

ATHLETICS WILL PLAY DAYTON TEAM

The East Side Athletics will travel to Dayton Sunday afternoon for a game with Linden Center at Westwood Field, and a real football tussle is on tap as both elevens are about evenly matched.

Linden Center had the edge on Xenia in a previous game here by a 9 to 0 count, but the locals have been practicing hard especially for this encounter and are planning to turn the tide Sunday.

At Rountree's Billiard Hall at Columbus and 4th Streets, Sunday morning between 10 and 11 o'clock that the team can proceed to Dayton in machines.

The following players are requested to be on hand: Washington, Starkes, Borden brothers, Cunningham, Porter, Harris, Anderson, Buford, Williamson, Williams, Scott brothers of Wilmington, and all other players on the team.

Buick Continues its Leadership

For the seventh consecutive year Buick has first choice of space at the National Automobile Shows. This signal honor is awarded annually by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce to the manufacturer-member having the largest volume of business for the preceding twelve months.

In winning and in maintaining this enviable position year after year, Buick has demonstrated conclusively that the true value of any automobile is reflected in the consistency with which the public buys it.

Since the introduction of the 1925 Buick models, public patronage has increased to an even greater degree.

A tribute to the Buick engineering skill and manufacturing ability that have provided newer and better Buick cars without departing in any way from the fundamentals of power, economy and dependability for which all Buicks have been famous.

NUMBER OF DAIRY COWS INCREASES IN GREENE COUNTY

Greene county's dairy cow population is increasing according to figures announced by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute. The statement covers an area embracing approximately one-eighth of the state in this section, and is believed to hold true for the county proper.

A 3.1 per cent gain in the number of dairy cows two years old and over is noted for the district over the preceding year, while the increase for the state as a whole was 4.0 per cent as compared with 1923. The entire United States shows an increase amounting to 6 per cent, government figures show.

The number of heifers 1 to 2 years old as compared to the total number of cows in this district seem to be below the average, indicating the intention to bring less young stock into milk in the near future.

In citing these figures the Institute calls attention to the fact that the United States need 320,000 more cows every year if production is to keep step with the normal growth of demand for dairy products. There are 1,412,000 more mouths to be fed in the United States with every passing year and with the increased consumption of dairy products per capita, this added number to the nation's herd will barely suffice to meet the increased demand.

DECISION IN HILL CASE NOT TO AFFECT DRY ENFORCEMENT

Washington, Nov. 14.—Prohibition Commissioner Haynes declared there would be no change whatever in the federal law enforcement policy and no relaxation whatever in the efforts to enforce the law in all such cases.

This statement was made following the acquittal of Representative Hill of Maryland on charges of making wine of 11 per cent alcoholic content. Prohibition enforcement officials indicated the Hill decision would be ignored by the department.

"I am clearly of the opinion," said Prohibition Commissioner Haynes, "that fruit juices of the alcoholic strength of that admitted to have been made by Representative Hill are in fact intoxicating and this unit will take notice of all such cases as are made to appear hereafter as heretofore, and the law enforcement will proceed as before. It should be borne in mind that Representative Hill was acquitted by a jury on a question of fact and that there was no holding by the judge to the effect that wine of 11 per cent of alcoholic strength is not in fact intoxicating."

Regarding the opinion of Judge Soper in the same case that the manufacture and possession of cider and non-intoxicating fruit juices, for exclusive use in the home, are not forbidden, provided they are non-intoxicating in fact, Commissioner Haynes asserted this view was in entire harmony with the holdings of the prohibition unit. "The holding of the court will not require any change whatever in existing regulations," he said, "and therefore none will be made."

The federal jury in the Hill case at Baltimore decided that the manufacture of whies and cider of ordinary alcoholic content in private homes is permissible. The jury reported to Judge Morris A. Soper after 20 hours' deliberation that it had found Representative John Philip Hill of Maryland, the defendant, not guilty on each of the six counts in the indictment found against him. The counts of the indictment had charged Hill specifically with manufacture and possession of intoxicants and with creating a public nuisance by having intoxicants in his home in violation of the Volstead law. Hill provoked the trial to test the power of the Volstead act over home brewing.

Hill declared after the verdict that the finding gave him an opportunity to go before congress and demand modification of the Volstead act and the passage of his 2.75 per cent beer bill, on the ground that the Volstead act, in its present form, discriminates and is unfair.

MRS. YEOMAN GIVEN TEN YEAR SENTENCE

Mt. Gilead, O., Nov. 14.—Following her plea of guilty to manslaughter for poisoning her sixth husband, Lewis Yeoman, at Cardington, Mrs. Annora Yeoman was sentenced to a minimum of 10 years in the Marysville reformatory for women by Judge C. H. Wood. Mrs. Yeoman changed her plea of not guilty of first degree murder to guilty of manslaughter. She went on trial last Monday. Mrs. Yeoman's counsel, in a statement to the court before sentence was pronounced, asked for leniency. Judge Wood before pronouncing sentence said he had a certain degree of sympathy for Mrs. Yeoman and felt that if the case had gone to the jury for decision that the death penalty would not have been voted. Four of Mrs. Yeoman's husbands are still living. All of them divorced her.

Hunting Accidents in Michigan. Lansing, Mich., Nov. 14.—With the hunting season barely under way, 25 hunting accidents, 10 of which were fatal, and many serious, have been reported to the Michigan conservation commission thus far. Carelessness, according to conservative officials, is responsible for most of the accidents, the list showing only one death due to a gun in the hands of another person. Awkward handling of firearms by youths who never have been instructed in their use caused several accidents. Eight hunters shot themselves accidentally.

The Truant Soul

Lancaster telephoned to Jenkins for the buggy, and half an hour later they were driving along the country road into the heart of the mountains. They traveled for the most part in silence; Lancaster's thoughts were occupied with his prospective case, and Joan was content to sit quietly at his side and watch the changing panorama of the land she loved and knew so well.

The road ascended continuously, until at last, when the sun was low down in the sky, they entered Thompson, a tiny settlement in the very heart of the mountain peaks.

It was a serious case, and the patient was already comatose. The tree had fallen across the chest, crushing it, and driving a rib into a lung. The immediate operation offered the only hope, and the doctor decided to perform it in the cabin.

Joan, having bundled out the family and the neighbors, administered the ether. She had never been greatly impressed by the legend of the skilled surgeon with the wonderful touch; her first operation at Avonmouth had seemed to her like a sort of glorified plumbing, and the leisurely manner of the surgeons had reduced the art to a science in her estimation. Now she revised her opinion as, seated at the patient's head, she watched Lancaster working within a compass of fractional inches, where a slip would have been deadly. His fingers, which had trembled as he held the reins, were as steady as the steel instruments he held, his deftness and precision were amazing; and when at last the operation was ended, and the patient's recovery announced as probable, she could not conceal her enthusiasm.

They were to remain at the cabin overnight in case of a change for the worse, returning to the institute in the morning. After a scrappy meal they had wandered to the end of the village, toward a patch of woodland that was encroaching on the tiny settlement. The long summer twilight still held the land, although the mountain tops were already vague and shadowy. They stood there, looking toward the level country under them.

"I think you are the most wonderful surgeon in the world," said Joan. "And you see I didn't faint this time," she added.

"Faint? Why should you faint?" asked Lancaster, looking at her with a puzzled expression.

"You seemed to regard my weakness in the operating room as a sign of my incapacity," she replied, a little chagrined that he should have dismissed the matter from his mind.

Lancaster looked at her with that strange glance which seemed always designed to hide his thoughts. Then his face softened.

"Joan, do you know that I owe everything on earth to you—to you, my dear?" he asked.

And he took her in his arms and kissed her.

"That's what you mean to me," he said. "I can't lose you; I want you to fill the life that you have given back to me."

And at the touch of his lips on hers Joan knew that in truth she loved him; all that she had heard of the man's past, his dissolute life, the talk of Avonmouth, was forgotten. She only knew that she loved him, not with the wild passion of which she had heard, but with a quiet and abiding fondness, none the weaker for its qualities of calmness; and it was the most natural thing in the world that she, who had given him life again, should give her own life also to this wonderful, strong man who had risen above his wrongs and driven the besetting devils from him by valorous strength. Her heart was lifted up; serene and trustful she returned his kiss.

"I love you, too," she answered. "Nothing of the past shall ever come between us."

They were at the verge of the forest, upon a height that overlooked Millville and Lancaster, hill villages, but now outspread in the shadowy plain beneath them. A dozen counties could be dimly discerned from that spot by daylight. Far in the distance were the coastal lands, nearer the cultivated belt, nearer still the little farms, and the matchless mountains all about them. It was their home country—both of them were thinking that; the smell of the rich soil was in their nostrils, and in their hearts the sense of home.

"Joan, can a man begin to build up his life again at thirty-eight, after he has missed everything?" asked Lancaster, after a long silence.

"You have proved that he can," she answered. "But you have not missed everything, my dear. You are a very great man, and a man with a great work in the world. Many men have gone along the path you took, but few have found the strength to turn back as you have done."

"Joan, I want to tell you something. I was engaged to be married once—years ago. She ran away on the evening before our marriage day. It was the beginning of my downfall. I thought I loved her."

His face was haggard. Divining his distress, Joan slipped her hand into his.

QUALITY FLOWERS GROWN IN XENIA

The beautiful flowers which adorned the Jobe Bros. Store in such profusion for their opening day showed to splendid advantage the fine quality of the chrysanthemums and other flowers that are being grown in Greene County.

The majority of the flowers shown were placed by the local growers. Many of the firms in New York, Philadelphia and other distant points who presented Jobe Bros. with handsome baskets of flowers telegraphed orders which were filled by the local florists from their own stock. The largest and most beautiful of the chrysanthemums were all Greene County grown. The large display proved that in the growing of fine flowers the local florists are second to none.

Donahey Warns Hunters.

Columbus, Nov. 14.—Ohio hunters are warned to be extremely careful to guard against forest fires during the hunting season that opens tomorrow, in a proclamation issued by Governor Donahey. "The unprecedented drought which exists in Ohio has greatly increased the danger of conflagration everywhere," the governor said. He asked the hunters to exercise care that a flash of ammunition, a discarded cigaret or cigar, or an extinguished fire does not start conflagrations.

Car Fare Increased.

Akron, O., Nov. 14.—The new four-year transportation franchise, framed by the Northern Ohio Traction and Light company and approved by the voters Nov. 4, became effective here. Fares on bus and streetcars in Akron were increased from 5 cents with penny transfers to 7 cents cash, four tickets for a quarter, or 17 tickets for a dollar, with universal transfers.

Manslaughter the Verdict.

Kenton, O., Nov. 14.—The jury in the murder trial of Mrs. Dora Barnett, 22, returned a verdict of manslaughter, with a recommendation for mercy. Mrs. Barnett was tried for second degree murder in the fatal shooting to death of her husband, Frank Barnett, on Sept. 20, during a quarrel in their home near Alger.

DISCOVERY THAT STARTLED WORLD

Is Age Matter of Conditions, Not Years? How CocoCod Gives Added Zest to Life

The most amazing discovery in years was that which recently revealed 40% of our school children as lacking in vital energy. Malnutrition and vitamin deficiency—the doctors call it, which means starvation of the blood and nerves that regulate life.

Scientists contend that this explains much of the ill health among men and women of today, for (they argue) how can they resist disease who have been literally starved since childhood?

Is age really a matter of conditions, not years? Physicians and others are inclined to think so. Otherwise, why is one man or woman young at 50—another old at 30? Why are some alive in every fiber, enjoying all good things to the full, while others, little more than half their years, are weak, anemic, nervous and moody?

Cod liver oil has long enjoyed the confidence of medical men, but never so much as today when—in a new combination called CocoCod it may be had in easy-to-take form. CocoCod contains the blood-building, nerve-strengthening elements which modern food and cookery deny us, combined with pure Norwegian cod liver oil and rich cocoa that makes it wonderfully palatable.

Anxious mothers and fathers who bless it for the roses that bloom in their children's cheeks are growing younger in body and mind through its use. Is a new era of finer, more vigorous manhood and womanhood to follow this discovery? Is this new food and builder, created to aid childhood, opening the way to a stronger race of virile men and lovely women? At any rate, physicians, teachers and others who are informed are recommending CocoCod, and local druggists have arranged to distribute it and explain its use.

Children who protest against ordinary cod-liver oil, readily take it in this new form. So be sure you're getting the genuine CocoCod which has the taste of rich cocoa and the strength-building elements that make rich, red blood, clear eyes and calm nerves.—Adv.
